Yub Roy - Cocktail of the month
by Khun Fluke, our bartender team

Yub Roy
(ยู่-ร้อ)

Inspiration and twist from The Rob Roy, a cocktail consisting primarily of whisky and vermouth, created in 1894 by a bartender at the Waldorf Astoria in Manhattan, New York City. The drink was named in honor of the premiere of Rob Roy, an operetta by composer Reginald De Koven and lyricist Harry B. Smith loosely based upon Scottish folk hero Rob Roy MacGregor.

Yub Roy (ยู่-ร้อ) is slang southern Thai language which means enjoy, be entertained or event, delight.

The cocktail consists of unique techniques and handcrafted ingredients with mangosteen vermouth from Surat Thani province, homemade local bitters made from unique Budu southern Thai fish sauce, mixed Thai herbal, cinnamon, orange zest and Thai whisky. garnished with mangosteen pulp by using zero-waste techniques.

A Yub Roy is similar to a Manhattan but is made exclusively with Scotch whisky. "Johnnie Walker Black Label" provides the taste of creamy toffee, sweet fruit and spices. Like the Manhattan, the Yub Roy can be made "sweet" "dry" or "perfect". And complex flavors.

In the meantime, Yub Roy is presenting Nang Talung, A traditional shadow play, which is a favorite folk entertainment for people in southern Thailand that it has become the symbol of the local life in that region. The awe-inspiring and artistic performances are normally accompanied by a combination of moral-teaching songs and chants, some of which have been adapted according to the economic, political, social and cultural changes.
